Key Route Extension Into Contra Costa Co.

Deferred Fast Service to Albany and Richmond

Among the numerous improvement projects on the tapis in the eastbay district, there is one that should not be overlooked or forgotten, for the time is near at hand when the exigency of the situation will demand that this important improvement be put through.

The project referred to is the building of the Key Route railway through Albany, extending the service into Contra Costa county and on to Richmond.

The Key Route terminus is now at Gilman street, Albany, and has been there for a number of years. The distance from Gilman street to the county line via the Key boulevard is one mile and a quarter. The right of way, which is 200 feet wide and parallels the east side of the Santa Fe northerly for several blocks and then diverges northeasterly, crossing the county line near the foothills, is owned exclusively by the Key Route company.

This unfinished extension of the Key into this attractive residential district is due, it is said, to the company's financial status.

It will be remembered that the Grand Canyon extension from 23d street, Richmond, was built by property owners and realty men who opened up and developed an immense area of fine residence property.

This will happen one of these days in Albany and Contra Costa county. The large holders of property as well as the small ones, will awaken to the fact that the building of this road will advance property values many times the amount required to build the line.

It was estimated that the mile and a quarter could be built for $30,000. This is a small amount as compared with the benefits

U. S. Gained Five Million Population In Ten Years

The United States census figures give the population of this country at 105,683,108. This is an increase of about five million in ten years. The census report shows that California has increased 46 per cent, and has advanced to seventh place.

Better Business League

A good crowd of business men attended the dinner given at the Christian church last night. A number of timely suggestions were made by speakers on "How to make business good in Richmond." The business men are endeavoring to overcome many obstacles, and by concerted effort and friendly spirit will succeed, if they "keep everlastingly at it."

which will accrue from the completion of this fast service line into one of the most attractive residential districts of the eastbay, now unsettled, but with street improvements and all conveniences installed except transportation facilities.

There are a number of property owners in the immediate vicinity of the proposed Key Route extension who fully realize that now is the time to start the ball rolling.

East Richmond is rapidly building up and advancing toward this extension of the Key Route. It will soon be one community whose common interests will weld together a circle of cities comprising Richmond, Albany, Berkeley and all of the eastbay district.

When once the Key extension is built to the county line, fast service is then assured to connect with Richmond. The workingman can establish his home in a most desirable location, away from smoke fumes, high above the damp lowlands, where he can spend the extra hour now consumed in slow transportation at home with his family.

Duck Bombardment Begins Tomorrow at 6 a. m.

The duck season opens tomorrow (Saturday), and the report comes from Lake Merritt, Oakland, that large flocks of canvasback, mallard, sprig and teal are arriving hourly from the interior marshes and lakes, having received a "wireless" that the enemy is preparing to raid their natural haunts.

Instinct teaches these fine birds just when to move, and the flight arrives almost within a certain day of each fall month, making Lake Merritt their home for the winter, often until late in the spring. Thousands of the birds are protected and fed by Oakland municipality, and become almost as tame as domestic fowls.

County Institute

Contra Costa county teachers institute will convene at Lincoln school Tuesday and will continue in session until Friday.

Speakers from a number of the eastern universities will be present, also prominent educators from the various cities of California, Hawaii, etc. The session promises to be one of the most interesting ever held here.

Riverside Convention

W. T. Helms reports a most interesting session of the state association of school superintendents which convened at Riverside last week. The financing of the schools of the state was one of the most important questions under discussion. It is claimed there are now 600 school districts in California without teachers. Read up on Amendment 16 and cast a ballot to change the present method of financing schools, and give Young America a chance for his white alley.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14. The petition for a rehearing of the prohibition cases has been denied by the supreme court. Retail Clerks Convene November 14 in Richmond

The organized clerks of the Pacific Coast will convene in Richmond November 14, under the auspices of the Bay City Federation of Retail Clerks. This will be quite a feather for Richmond organized labor.

The retail clerks are a progressive class. They are proving to the pessimist that it is just as easy to shop in daylight at reasonable hours, as it is to be on the job at the works when the whistle blows.

Rise early (4:26 a. m.) Wednesday, October 27, and see a total eclipse of the moon. The complete eclipse will occur 63 minutes later, or at 5:29. The phenomenon will be one of the best on nature's screen, something that cannot be exhibited at the local movie show. Don't miss it.

Richmond Has 8000 Voters

Eight thousand voters have registered in Richmond. This does not indicate that Richmond has only 16,000 population. There was something wrong with the counting machines of those enumerators. In the language of the linotype, "Some of the mats must have stuck in the channels."

RANDOM COMMENT

The university "Pelican" for October has had many of its tail-feathers pulled out. It's as mild as a dose of "one-half of one."

Owing to the copious downpour of late, it is thought the power and light companies will now be able to operate their plants without any further inconvenience. It began to look like war curtailment on the part of consumers, as the continued drought has no parallel in the history of California, it is said.

There was a hitch in the launching of the new ferryboat "A. J. Hanford" at Alameda Sunday. When half way down the ways the boat stuck and refused to take the water. The cause of the stubborn action on the part of the boat is attributed to the absence of a "kick" in the bottle that was broken over the nose of the vessel.

Harding "Showed Up" the League to the Missourians

Senator Warren G. Harding "showed" the Missourians in his speech at Kansas City the other day, what Article X means. He said:

"Article X is not only the most dangerous provision in the covenant but, in its sinister possibilities, it is the most dangerous proposition ever presented to the American people. Let me read it to you—it is very short—and then ask you to follow me in a brief inquiry as to its meaning. It reads:

"The high contracting parties undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all States, members of the league. In case of any such aggression, or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the Executive Council shall advise upon the means by which the obligation shall be fulfilled."

Good roads means progression along all lines of human endeavor. Vote for Amendment No. 9.

League of Municipalities Meets at Northern City

State Federation Favors Organization of Teachers

The state federation of labor in session at Fresno last week went after the opposers to the unionizing of school teachers. The federation contended that the school teacher had a legal right to organize for self-protection the same as any other combination of labor or capital. There was some jazz in the proceedings when resolutions were adopted rapping the Japanese and the "Better Federation of Labor," the latter an open shop bunch who are endeavoring to put the "skids" under organized labor.

George A. Tracy, ex-president of San Francisco Typographical union, introduced a resolution favoring the University of California. Tracy stated that the federation was not opposed to Amendment 12; that the federation could not consider propositions not fundamentally labor questions.

Herbert Hoover Said Something

Herbert Hoover, in his Indianapolis speech Saturday, very truthfully said:

"If we are to sustain party movement, if we are to keep two dominant parties in the field, our parties when in power must carry out their promises, must succeed in efficient government, must find solution for national difficulties, must march in progress with the times, must represent the will of the majority."

Many Will Answer the Call to Chico Duck Dinner

(Special to The Richmond Terminal). CHICO, Cal., Oct. 15.—Elaborate preparations are being made to stage one of the most interesting meetings of the year when the local boosting body of Chico will put on the big duck feed at the convention of the League of Municipalities, which convenes here November 8-11.

The ducks are now feeding in the rice swamps and will be rolling fat for the chefs especially engaged to prepare the duck dinner. A cordial invitation is extended the newspapermen of the state. Chico wants them to see a real city.

Newspaper Men to Put On Burlesque

The newspapermen Elks are billed to entertain at the regular meeting of Richmond Lodge No. 1251, next Tuesday night. That it will be a "bad night," is a foregone conclusion, as the paraphernalia required to get out an issue of the "Daily Rattlesnake" on short notice will require some ingenuity and much "white paper."

There will be many "hot editorials" which will necessitate cooling off before printing them. The devil will have several rings around his horns, for he's a hard-boiled.

The city editor will be so pompous that a common reporter's life will be a burden. The managing editor will have a blue pencil that smokes all of the time. The fighting editor will wear two-ounce gloves, and woe to the intruder who enters the sanctum for "satisfaction." He will get it (where the chicken got the axe.) There will be many situations of an exciting nature; even worse than related in Harding's little pamphlet on "What I did with 200 pounds of type."

Subway Improvement

It is reported that work on the subway improvement may be delayed somewhat on account of the early rains. The heavy rain of last week necessitated attaching the pumps, as the accumulated water in the subway delayed traffic and caused considerable inconvenience.

POPULATION OF UNITED STATES ANNOUNCED TO BE 105,683,108

Increase of 14.9 Per Cent—Total Is Exclusive of People Living in Possessions—Falling
Off in Rate of Growth Explained

Washington.—The 1920 population of continental United States was announced October 7 by the Census Bureau as 105,683,108. This was an increase of 13,710,842, or 14.9 per cent since 1910.

This total does not include the population of outlying possessions, which will be announced as soon as the figures for Alaska and the military and naval services abroad are tabulated. It is estimated, however, that these possessions have 12,250,000 inhabitants, so the total number of people living under the American flag is in round numbers 118,000,000.

The figures for continental United States compare with 91,972,266 ten years ago and 75,994,775 twenty years ago. The increase for the last decade, however, fell 2,668,849, or 6.1 per cent, below that of the preceding decade.

Director Rogers of the Census Bureau, in a formal statement, attributed this reduction to the almost complete stoppage of immigration during the war, an increase in emigration during the same period, deaths in the influenza epidemic of 1917-18 and war casualties.

The statement noted that the trend of population from the country to the city had been greatly accentuated since 1910. For the first time in the country's history, it said, more than half the entire population was living in urban territory.

Preliminary tabulations, Rogers said, showed that 54,816,269, or 51.9 per cent of the people were living in incorporated places of 2500 inhabitants or more, and 50,866,899, or 48.1 per cent in rural territory.

This situation was clearly reflected in the figures as to farms in the country, which also were made public Thursday. These placed the total of farms at 6,459,998, an increase of only 98,496, or 1.5 per cent, ten years ago, against an increase of 624,130, or 10.9 per cent during the decade ended in 1910.

Rogers stated that while these figures were preliminary and subject to revision, the final official population as transmitted to Congress in December for apportionment purposes was not likely to be greatly different.

Revised figures for a number of cities and counties are yet to be announced, but the main work of the 1920 census is completed after nine months of labor.

Populations of the last two states in the 1920 census show Minnesota to have moved into seventeenth place, passing Tennessee and Alabama, with a population of 2,386,371. Nebraska, with a population of 1,295,502, an increase of 103,288, or 8.7 per cent, falls into thirty-first place, Washington and Connecticut having passed it in the 1920 census.

Iowa's population, announced Thursday as 2,403,630, an increase of 178,859, or 8 per cent, more than makes up for the decrease shown for the state in the thirteenth census. It fell below North Carolina, which ranked directly below it in 1910.

Rogers' statement continues: "The results of the census of population in 1920 at first glance may seem somewhat disappointing and open to question possibly, but the substantial accuracy of the enumeration in January is fully borne out by comparison with estimates based upon the probable excess of births over deaths throughout the decade and the excess of immigration over emigration. From all available data, it may be roughly estimated that the annual excess of births over deaths throughout the United States is approximately 1 per cent.

"This rate compounded would indicate an increase of approximately 10.5 per cent during the decade. Thus the nearly 92,000,000 persons present in the United States in 1910 might be expected to increase to about 101,700,000 in 1920.

"In addition, the excess of immigration over emigration during the decade was approximately 3,733,000. Since the bulk of these foreign-born persons came to the country during the first four years of the decade, it may be roughly estimated that the increase due to excess of births over deaths in their families was about 10 per cent. Thus the population of the country may be assumed to have been augmented by about 4,100,000 during the decade through excess of immigration over emigration.

The two estimates taken together would indicate, therefore, a probable population of 105,800,000, or only a small fraction of 1 per cent more than the total shown by the returns of the fourteenth census.

"To show more clearly the change in the proportion of the population living in rural territory now as compared with ten years ago, the rural population can be divided into two classes, namely, 9,864,196, or 9.3 per cent of the total population living in incorporated places of less than 2500 inhabitants and 41,002,703, or 38.8 per cent of the total population living in what may be called purely country districts. At the census of 1910 the population living in incorporated places of less than 2500 inhabitants formed 8.8 per cent, while the population living in purely country districts formed 44.8 per cent of the total population.

"The increase since 1910 in the population as a whole, as before stated, was 14.9 per cent, but during the decade there has been an increase in that portion of the population living in urban territory of 12,192,826, or 28.6 per cent, and in that portion living in rural territory of 1,518,016, or only 3.1 per cent, and if the comparison is extended to cover the two classes of rural territory, it appears that that portion living in incorporated places of less than 2500 inhabitants shows an increase of 1,745,371, or 21.5 per cent, whereas that portion living in purely country districts shows an actual decrease of 227,355, or six-tenths of 1 per cent.

"The percentages of increase shown for the several states vary greatly, due in part to the causes which have been noted as affecting the increase in the population of the country as a whole, but also in part to the abnormal internal movement of population required to meet the excessive demands of the war work in certain sections. For three states—Mississippi, Nevada and Vermont—there have been small decreases in population, the largest decrease being for Nevada, 5.5 per cent."

With the outlying possessions, the United States in 1910 had a population of 101,115,487. These possessions included Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Philippine Islands, the Panama Canal zone, Guam and Samoa, and the total of persons in the military and naval service abroad was added. This gave the population of the Virgin Islands of the United States, acquired from Denmark, is included.

The growth of the country's population, exclusive of the outlying possessions, is set forth briefly in the following table:

Census Year	Population	Increase	Per Cent
1910	91,972,266	13,710,842	14.9
1900	75,994,775	13,046,861	17.2
1890	62,949,714	12,701,331	20.3
1880	50,155,783	11,597,412	23.1
1870	38,558,371	7,116,000	18.5
1860	31,443,321	4,205,445	13.4
1850	23,191,876	6,122,423	26.4
1840	17,040,453	4,205,445	24.7
1830	12,960,020	3,227,587	25.0
1820	9,638,453	2,386,572	24.8
1810	7,250,881	1,937,308	26.7
1800	5,308,483	1,379,269	25.9
1790	3,929,214

With the announcement of the country's total population the Bureau of the Census, under Director Sam I. Rogers, has accomplished only a portion of its tremendous task, which will continue to occupy a large force of statisticians and clerks for the better part of a number of years. But the primary object, for which the fathers of the country provided in the constitution that a counting of the people should be made every ten years, has been achieved. That object was to obtain the total population in order that apportionment of the members of the House of Representatives may be made by Congress.

That apportionment, as soon as Director Rogers certifies to Congress the exact number of people in each state, will be taken up by the House of Representatives at its coming session, and during the coming year the body will by law fix the number of congressmen from each state. There has been discussion as to whether the membership of the House of Representatives, now fixed at 435, should not be reduced, as that number is considered by some parliamentarians as too large and unwieldy a body. People of some states are fearful that their representation in the House might be cut down and oppose any reduction.

In 1790 the number of representatives was fixed at sixty-five, each representing approximately 30,000 people. The number has increased with each decade, based on census returns, until each of the present 435 members of the House represents approximately 211,877. The actual ratio of representation varies from 80,293 in Nevada to 228,027 in Washington, Nevada, Delaware, Wyoming and Arizona, whose populations were less than the number which would entitle them to one representative by apportionment, were each given one under Constitutional provision that each State shall have at least one representative in the House.

Some changes have occurred in the rank of the States and the District of Columbia during the ten years. Connecticut has outgrown Washington, Utah has gone ahead of New Hampshire. Oregon has passed Maine. The District of Columbia, included in the ranking of the States by the Census Bureau, has outgrown Vermont.

Population census figures for the following States were announced Thursday: Pennsylvania, 8,720,159; increase, 1,055,048, or 13.8 per cent. Ohio, 5,759,368; increase, 992,247, or 17.2 per cent. Iowa, 2,403,630; increase, 178,859, or 8 per cent. Michigan, 3,667,222; increase, 867,049, or 23.6 per cent. Nebraska, 1,295,502; increase, 103,338, or 8.7 per cent. Minnesota, 2,386,371; increase, 210,682, or 9.7 per cent. Virginia, 2,306,861; increase, 244,749, or 11.9 per cent. Arkansas, 1,750,995; increase, 176,456, or 11.2 per cent. Florida, 966,296; increase, 213,677, or 28.4 per cent.

The ranking of the states, with their 1920 and 1910 populations, follows:

SERG. MORRIS FISHER WORLD RIFLE CHAMPION

Washington.—Gold braided admirals and generals with war decorations gave the individual rifle champion of the world, Sergeant Morris Fisher of the U. S. Marines, "gangster" and admiration when he arrived here from Antwerp, Belgium, last week.

Using the U. S. magazine rifle, Fisher won the 800 meter Free Rifle Match at the Olympic shoot last month against ninety competitors, representing thirteen different nations. His score of 996 out of a possible 1080 was 7 points over that of his nearest rival, Larsen of Denmark.

In this event the use of any type or pattern of rifle is permissible, with no restrictions as to telescopic sights, special barrels and other accessories which make for accuracy. Fisher's performance marks the first time this match has ever been won by the standard military rifle of any country, and also the first time the match has been won by a member of an American team.

San Francisco.—Twisting and curving like a thing possessed, a small coupe owned by Daniel H. McMillan, aged 20, son of Robert McMillan of 598 Fifteenth avenue, pursued the youth down a steep hill until it overturned and crushed him to death against a telegraph pole, October 7, at Masonic avenue, between Frederick and Waller streets. At the Park Emergency Hospital, where McMillan was taken by G. G. Frisbee of 1355 Masonic avenue, he was found to have incurred a crushed skull and other fatal injuries. McMillan was cranking his automobile when it got away from him, witnesses to the tragedy state. The youth ran with the machine in pursuit.

Mrs. Alma Williams, formerly of Sweden, back from a visit to her motherland, was held up temporarily at Ellis Island, October 7, but was sped on her way to the West when she told the story of her right to re-enter Uncle Sam's domain. She is the mother of the only twins born at Castle Garden, nearly thirty years ago, when she arrived for the first time with her husband as an immigrant. When she and the twins, girls, were ready to travel, they went to Colorado. The twins grew up and married Americans, which they had missed being themselves by mere hours, as their parents were not officially landed when they made their appearance. Mrs. Williams is to go to join the twins.

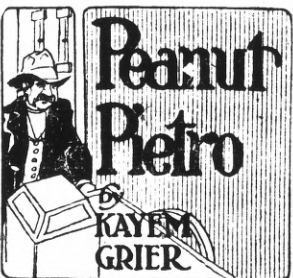

Fresno.—The three Methodist churches of this city will receive their former pastors for another year, according to the decision made at the conference at Long Beach. They are Dr. F. G. H. Stevens, First M. E. Church, E. E. Marshall, Grace Church, and Rev. J. Hunter Smith of Normal Church.

The big immigration into the United States, which will, of course, affect the labor market, is partly offset by the number of foreigners going home. In August, for instance, 86,000 arrived at our many ports. That is at the rate of over 1,000,000 a year. But on the other hand, more than one-half as many returned to their foreign homes. In August the total number returning was 45,000.

ETHEL CLAYTON

Ethel Clayton, one of the popular "movie" stars, finds her greatest recreation in reading. She has a carefully chosen library in her Hollywood (Cal.) home. Last year she made a trip to the Orient, spending several months in Japan and China, and this summer was booked with her mother and brother, Ronald, for an extended vacation in Europe.

MAKA neestake deesa morning and show up for da work. And da boss he make meestake and show up, too. He geeva look wat day ees on da calendar and tells me go home.

When nobody ees show up for da work I tink mebbe was out late and no gotta amish deesa morning. But da boss tells me was no trouble lika dat. He say today was da Labor day and nobody work. He tells me I can go home and have da vacans.

I dunno somatung bouta Labor day. I tink every one was da labor day eef you gotta steady job. I no tink today was moonsh deefence—jusa plain Monday, September six time.

But he say ees deesa country one day every year ees begon celebrash and no work. He say da union takes da vacans and make member pay da fine eef he go to work. And when da union queets work, da boss say, every body else no work, too.

Da boss tells me I no losn da wage and can go home and make da celebrash. Rightn quick I tink da Labor day was greata stuff. So I go home and feegure out smarta idee.

I no tella my boss, but I am gonna finda guy wat make da calendar. I tell a heem eef he make tree hundred and seexenty four Labor day every year and jusa one day for lay off ees greata stuff. We go to work on da lay off day and lay off on all da Labor day. Da boss forgetta deesa morning was da Labor day before he geeva look at da calendar. So weeth jusa leetle change ven da print mebbe he forgetta every day. I tink I am pretty smarta guy alla right.

Porterville.—Pomegranate packing has begun in local fruit shipping establishments and the season will soon be in full swing. While there is but little State market for the fruit, it brings fancy prices in the Eastern markets, and its production has become an important industry in this section, amounting to several hundred thousand dollars a year.

Modesto.—Struck down and trampled upon by an angry bull, Albert L. Cressey, 82, for years a director of the Modesto Bank, and father of the Modesto Bank, was killed October 5, about noon, on his ranch, six miles west of Modesto. The exact nature of the accident is not known, as there was no witness to the tragic incident.

San Rafael.—Captain Leon Hiribarren, pioneer resident of Novato, died there October 6 at the age of 82. In early days here Captain Hiribarren operated a freight and passenger boat between San Francisco and Novato, touching at Corte Madera, which was at that time on a navigable stream. Captain Hiribarren was the father of the late Mrs. Wellington Gregg of San Francisco.

Sacramento.—Two soldiers were killed and four injured, one probably fatally, when an Army truck from Mather Field was struck by a street car, October 6. The dead: E. C. Ford, private in the 9th Aerial Squadron, Texas; James McCreary, private in the 9th Aerial Squadron. The injured: Private Roy Shay, possible fracture of the skull; Private Hugo Biefer, injured leg; Sergeant A. Fletcher, injuries to the arms and hand; Hans Wagner, minor injuries.

San Francisco.—Mrs. Elizabeth Lynch, the milliner, and her son, G. A. Lynch, were instructed and arraigned before Police Judge T. L. Fitzpatrick, October 7, on the new felony charges of obtaining money by false pretenses preferred against them by Samuel Semon, broker, of 789 Mission street. Their cases were continued until October 19 for a hearing. The new charges grow out of the transaction on which Mrs. Lynch and her son originally were arrested for falsifying a report of the assets of their business to enable them to borrow money.

Sacramento.—Carlton H. Johnson, who was suspended as head proof-reader of the State printing plant by State Printer Robert L. Telfer shortly after he fled sensational charges against the State Printer, was found "not guilty" by the State Civil Service Commission, October 5, after three minutes deliberation. Telfer charged Johnson with inefficiency and insubordination at the time of his dismissal. The Civil Service Commission dismissed the charges, as no one appeared to prosecute them.

San Francisco.—While crossing Turk street at Market, John H. Wise, 51 years old, and living at 2160 Steiner street, was run down by an automobile and seriously injured. The driver of the machine told Wise to his home and left before any of the members of the household could secure his name and address. Wise is at St. Mary's Hospital, suffering from a fractured thigh and possible internal injuries. At one time Wise was prominent in political circles in this city and for several years was Collector of Port.

Woodland.—The best arrangement of irrigating ditches, absence of weeds, carefully kept fences and painted farm structures on a Yolo County ranch during 1921 will be worth more than the honor that goes with such a distinction, as a result of the decision of the County Supervisors. The board decided that prizes in the amount of $1000 should be hung up. To the first prize farm will go a cash award of $400, together with a beautiful testimonial. The second prize will be $300, the third $200 and the fourth $100.

San Francisco.—Joseph Lillkull, Trinity county miner, who shot and killed James Campbell in a former saloon at 228 Third street on August 30, was acquitted of murder by a jury before Superior Judge Franklin Griffin. The verdict was "Not guilty by reason of insanity." At the time of his arrest Lillkull admitted to the police that he had killed Campbell because he had reason to believe that Campbell was the leader of four men who robbed him of $300. He had been drinking, it was shown to the jury. Fred Berry, his counsel, arguing that the drink had undermined his client's mentality.

Oakland.—A lone bandit robbed pretty twenty-year-old Katherine Polito of the Frederick apartments, Forty-first street and Telegraph avenue, and a male companion whose name she refused to divulge, of $1250 worth of jewelry at a lonely spot on the Moraga road late October 6, according to her story to the police. The automobile had been drawn up alongside the road and the lights were out, she said, when an unmasked highwayman, with a cap drawn over his eyes, leaped from a clump of brush to the running board of the machine, thrust a revolver into the face of Miss Polito's companion and demanded that he hand over his $250 diamond stickpin. The bandit took a $1000 platinum diamond ring from the finger of Miss Polito, told the couple that he was not looking for money, threatened spread alarm and disappeared.

A German author bearing the name of Brandler-Pracht has published a book entitled, "The Deluge: It Will Come Again." He offers astronomical and geological proofs. The next deluge he put at 3200 A. D., leaving 1300 years of grace in which mankind may mend its ways.

A London cable says that a British specialist has made a discovery to conquer any new outbreak of influenza. It is preventative rather than curative. It consists of two antiseptic drops on a bridge that slips into the nostrils, killing all germs that one may otherwise breathe.

According to the Railway Age there were 7,623,551 motor vehicles registered in this country in 1919, costing not less than $7,000,000,000. The public is probably spending more than $6,000,000,000 a year, or $230 a family, for the operation and upkeep of these cars. As many as 87 per cent of the cars in use are passenger cars.

President Wilson October 5 received a chaplain's war medal from the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America as an "expression of appreciation by the churches of his distinguished service to the church and to the world through his leadership in winning the World War and bringing to the world the ideals embodied in the League of Nations."

Dr. W. M. Young, a Baptist missionary in Yunnan Province, China, has protested to the United States Consul at Canton and to the officials of the province against fines ranging from $5 to $400 imposed upon people of the province for observing the Christian Sabbath. A letter from Dr. Young, made public in New York, October 5, said the fines are discontinued by higher Chinese officials.

Lord Milner, secretary of state, for the colonies, in the British cabinet, has drawn up the new plan of government for Egypt which gives to that country practical independence. It is similar to the control the United States exercises over Cuba. The peaceful warfare of Egypt for self-government, which has been successfully carried on, is credited to Saad Zaghlul Pasha, described as the Gage of Washington of Egypt.

Raw rubber is another product that has gone down in price. There was held in London, the central market for rubber, a meeting of the rubber growing association, representing about one-third of the owners of the 8,000,000 acres of rubber under cultivation in tropical countries. It was proposed that there should be a reduction of the tapping of the rubber trees by as much as 25 per cent.

Based on the estimate made by the war tax receipts at the national treasury, although expenditures are being reduced for autos, diamonds, imported cosmetics and the like, the public now is increasing its purchases of candy, soft drinks, tobacco and theater and movie tickets. From the last mentioned classes of objects the government collected taxes during May on sales to the amount of over $35,000,000. From theater admission alone the government collected $6,690,000.

Street Paving to be Protected in Future

At the suggestion of Councilman W. L. Lane, the matter of the heavy trucks over the lightly paved streets of Richmond was taken up at Monday night's session of the council. Councilman Lane called attention to the manner in which the heavy trucks were running the paving that taxpayers were compelled to pay for, and insisted that an ordinance be framed and passed to protect the residence streets which were not paved with heavy base designed to withstand trucking. City Attorney Hall will frame an ordinance regulating heavy trucking traffic.

Keep the Industries Prosperous

Herbert Hoover, testifying before the United States Senate Committee on Reconstruction and Production flays the excess profits tax and condemns it as unjust and ineffective, as in many lines of industry it becomes a permanent tax on capital which the ultimate consumer must pay. Abolition of the excess profits tax is virtually certain. Numerous plans are now being prepared for raising the necessary government revenue in some other manner and the next congress will have a difficult task before it in revising our tax laws. Any tax plan adopted should be considered primarily from the standpoint of its effect on industries. Operating industries maintain the payrolls which support all business and any conditions caused by taxation, legislation or labor troubles which interfere with productive industries, automatically cut the earning power and hence the taxpaying power of the nation. Keep the industries prosperous and the country will be prosperous.

She Discovered My Identity.

Her eyes are blue as violets,
Her locks like amber floss;
We motored in the night
I borrowed from my boss,
And sat along the moonlit sea,
And strolled along the sand,
And once I kissed her rosy lips,
And twice I held her hand.

I met her face to face to-day,
The prettiest girl in town,
Dressed in something silken soft
And shimmering and brown.
She didn't even bow to me,
I knew it would be thus
When she discovers that I chauf
A public service bus.
